Leading Up is designed for any individual who wants to develop their personal leadership strengths. Participants will gain a deeper understanding of fundamental leadership concepts such as developing strong relationships with key people; defining a win in terms of teamwork; and engaging in continual communication.

Participants study the qualities that make an effective leader, analyze individual leadership roles and assess their personal leadership style and skill. They are challenged to apply their skills by taking leadership roles within their schools, departments, and the District.

Each participant will have exposure to leadership roles in the district, participate in shared readings, complete an Action Research project and receive re-certification hours upon completion of the eight leadership development sessions. Our goal is that each participant leave with the confidence to lead from where you are.

Leading Up is:

- Professional Development for all staff members
- Inspiring and Equipping staff with confidence and skills to “lead from where you are”
- Building the capacity of leaders throughout Richland School District Two
